Science and Engineering Sources and Resources

Discussion: Use the Scientific Information Tutorial “Science and Engineering Sources and Resources” for a discussion on different formats of information, i.e. books, journals, government documents and grey literature.

Activity:

Locate a book of choice using the library catalog. Find a recent journal article on the same topic using the library database Academic Search Complete. Consider the purpose of each information format. Write a one page comparative analysis of how each form of information treats the subject.

Use the Science Information Tutorial “Science and Engineering Sources and Resources” to guide you in your analysis and discussion.

Consider the following:

- Timeliness of research
- Treatment of the topic
- Research process
